

Dear Mr. Powell,

Please do not relax cross-ownership restrictions.

At a point in history when media corporations have unprecedented power, there seems little need to relax restrictions on monopoly.

To speak candidly, it taints the reputation of your agency to see you responding to the needs of foreign corporations like Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. You are supposed to be looking out for America, not submitting to the pressure of powerful entities.

I hope that you choose to support a free press by enforcing cross-ownership restrictions.

Respectfully,

Christian Dorn
